I am very happy with the school teachers and staff. They all have been so kind, patient and supportive of the children and parents throughout COVID-19.

Would have felt more content and happier had staff at least worn face masks in school time. Importance of avoiding the spread or contracting yourself the virus and safeguarding the children is key and sensible practice especially when school opens full time in September.

Halwill primary school has done so well during this pandemic, you couldn't wish for a better school to send your children, the staff really have gone above and beyond for every single pupil.

Just want to say how impressed we were with the school & how smoothy everything was executed & dealt with. Mrs Alford & her staff have been amazing, especially in such unusual circumstances! Thank you for all the support given & dedication to ensure our little people don't suffer with their education or health.

I think he will struggle to start full time in reception straight away. Not necessarily anything that could have been done about that before though due to current situation. I do feel we could have had more communication about what to expect moving from preschool to reception.

School been very helpful and supportive throughout, prompt feedback on work done through dojo, only possibly could have done with sometimes giving something to work on in feedback such as keep practicing Writing numbers correctly or something like that as easier if a teacher has said to do it than mum being fussy!!

I think the zoom facility could have been used more, especially for teaching virtual lessons. To have a teacher there Explaining and answering any questions the children at home had would have benefited the children, especially with some maths which as parents we were taught different methods for working problems out to how children are taught in school now. I feel while the videos were a great help, even just a Zoom lesson once A week would have been good and engaged the children greatly. While I appreciate there was probably reasons and difficulties surrounding this it would be my only slight criticism.
